OnRule

Increasing operational efficiency by simplifying secure distribution of compliance information

Prepared in collaboration with

Infoblox

SITUATION

Infoblox Inc. BLOX (NYSE), a world leader in network control solutions enables approximately 7,700 enterprises and service providers. With more than 140 SKUs in over 25 countries the company relies on sophisticated systems and methodologies to coordinate its engineering, manufacturing and fulfillment efforts.

Looking to further improve coordination the Product Compliance Organization decided to make certificates and other relevant compliance records easy to find and access directly by other departments. They quickly identified a number of challenges to achieve their goals, including: Centralizing a vast collection of regulatory records both in physical and electronic formats, and, managing access permissions to ensure the right people has access to the right information.

The Product Compliance Organization at Infoblox selected the OnRule product compliance platform to help achieve the goal of democratizing access to compliance information while fully addressing all logistical, technical and security challenges.

> "... make certificates and other relevant compliance records easy to find and access directly by other departments..."

ACTIONS

In less than 8 weeks the Compliance Organization and the OnRule team compiled, reviewed and organized hundreds of files covering test reports, certificates and other records to demonstrate regulatory conformity across all products and markets.

Using proprietary systems and methodologies OnRule extracted relevant metadata from each and every record, effectively building a secure repository of SmartCerts™ or intelligent records, easily searched and monitored through a certification dashboard.

With the central repository in place, OnRule worked closely with the Compliance Organization to define user roles and their respective access rights. OnRule also provided hands-on training to members of the Hardware Engineering, Product Development, Supply Chain, and Sales teams.

> "... define user roles and their respective access rights..."

RESULTS

The OnRule platform has augmented Infoblox's ability to stay nimble. By providing real-time visibility to all its stakeholders the Compliance team spends less time managing the flow of certification information and more time planning and advising on strategic compliance decisions. For Infoblox, tangible benefits of the OnRule platform include:

- Secured access to compliance data and information for key stakeholders across the company.
- Hassle-free search and retrieval of regulatory records from any device.
- Real-time tracking of regulatory status across products and markets.